Local Citizens to Pay $1,175,00 Federal Taxes

New York- March 21.- How much will Appomattox County residents be tapped for, come April 16, by way of Federal income taxes due for 1961?

The Government counts on their contributions being larger than they were last April, when local collections of personal income and withholding taxes totaled some $1,148,000.

That is the approximate amount that was turned in by them, as determined from the official reports of statewide collections, announced by the Internal Revenue Service, and from an unofficial breakdown of the figures, based on local earnings.

What they show is that Appomattox County residents are paying about 0.15 per cent of the $765,000,000 collected in Virginia as a whole.

Because income rose in most areas of the nation during the past year, the Government expects that the goal of $46.1 billion in personal taxes, which was set in the previous budget, will be realized by April 16.

That figure will be $1.2 billion more than was turned in by individual taxpayers last April. The grand total at that time was $44.9 billion.

In Appomattox County, on the basis of preliminary figures on 1961 earnings locally, the current tax returns are expected to be nearly $1,170,000, a rise of $97,000.

With the economy moving forward at a fairly brisk pace in the first quarter of 1962, the Administration is relying on this being a fine business year — one that will produce overall returns that will top the 1961 total by 13 per cent.

Its estimates are made on the assumption that the gross national product will rise from $520 billion to $570 billion and that personal incomes will go from $417 billion to $448 billion.

If incomes in Appomattox County move upward no faster and no slower than the general average for the country, figured at 6.9 per cent in the budget, local residents will have proportionately more to pay in taxes when April 1963 rolls around.

Additional tax revenue is also expected by the Government as a result of automatic auditing methods that are being put into use.

They will spot errors in arithmetic, failure to file previous returns and other mistakes and irregularities.
